Included in the honor roll are the names of Colin Ray Bird and Sidney Dennis Bird of Lashburn, Sask.; Harold Hyman of Crask, Sask.; Matthew Andrew Hall of Lashburn, Sask.; Herbert Peter Peters, D.P.R., Southern, Sask.; Herman Hamilton Pringle of Crask and Harve, Sask.; Edward Gustave Farnsworth of Strathburg, and Robert Andrew Woodard of Star City, Sask.

NO GIRL EVER HAD TOO MANY CLOTHES TO WEAR—This fact may be the key to the puzzle of what to do with Uncle Sam's huge, 20-million-half, two-year surplus of American-grown cotton. County government girls recently modeled clothing fashioned from cotton and cotton blends at the Department of Agriculture Building, Md. Experimentation. Products of both government and textile mill research, new types of cloth are, or will soon be, in the market. Some of the styles are shown, below:

Cotton and China grass, fiber of the latter cotton is combined in this attractive two-piece suit for casual wear.

Bathing suit and coat trousers first produced of pure cotton thread. It's blended with wool and cotton when woven.

Cotton-fabric raincoat has wavy, elastic ribbing thread which turns sweater into a withering change sign at night.

ON THE BORDERLINE OF LIFE—Protein shows them with all of the electron microscope, record the first time that fragments of matter have been put together by man to form a living substance. Chemists from John E. Pringle and Dr. Robert W. Hargrove, University of California, made the experiment. It was hailed as "an utterly fantastic discovery on the bordering of life" by Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, head of University of California's virus laboratory. Picture at left shows insect, protein portion of the tobacco mosaic virus. At right, the object are "ribbons" of virus, crystallized with insect protein and protein and parts of the virus in an elaborate solution. Mosaic virus reproduces itself, causes mosaic disease in the tobacco plant. "Tail-mouth" immunization to disease and a key to the infectious agents hidden in the chromosome are seen as possible achievements in the light of the historic experiment.

NONSTOP TO MONTREAL—Nonstop-type locomotive is unveiled at her final testing place in Chautauque, N.Y., where she'll set the world's record as "the fastest of locomotives to ever" at a speed of 120 miles per hour. At present, the fastest locomotive is the "Chautauque" and the "Chautauque" is the fastest locomotive to ever.

HIGHWAY TOWN—Surgery's nearly painless for the doctors at Children's Medical Center, Boston, Mass., where children play their way to sleep with aid of toys such as the elephant and space helmet, under stress. Playthings are attached to anesthesia machines and help eliminate fright when youngsters are "put under" prior to operations. Demonstrating the device at 20th meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists are, from left: James Kain, 4, her brother, John, 5, Dr. Tim Hough, visiting, becoming anesthesiologist.

Smith, an American test pilot, have both bailed out of jet aircraft while traveling faster than the speed of sound. Haddley used an ejection seat, and Smith used his own and a height of 25,000 feet. He was picked up from the sea by a rescue ship and a rescue plane. Smith bailed out at 600 m.p.h. He was unconscious for five days.

Obtain Your Bean Seed Early

Obtaining a seed supply early is one of the most important considerations in the production of field beans. A reasonable supply of seed early in the season is of great value, as the seed is in the best condition for planting, and the weather is usually favorable. For farmers who are thinking of growing an acreage of beans in 1953, early delay in making arrangements for seed is almost certain to result in disappointment next spring.

Great beans are going to be in seed demand next spring, since many farmers are beginning to use the possibilities in the use of a good cash crop for irrigated land. The commercial market price for good white beans is now $2.00, and yields of 1.000 pounds per acre should be obtained without too much difficulty. Excessive handling of the crop should enable the grower to increase the yield to 1.500 pounds per acre.

The Vlade cultivator can be used satisfactorily for pulling the crop. This pulls four rows, where they are spaced twenty-two inches apart, and a good practice is to pull a wide delivery rate behind the cultivator, to gather the four rows into one window for drying. They can then be picked up and thrashed with the ordinary combine, after a few alterations are made to reduce the cylinder speed to about 300 revolutions per minute, and to keep the other parts of the machine up to their regular rate of speed.

If the right kind of land is chosen, and proper methods are employed for handling them, field beans should become an important crop for the semi-arid areas of South Alberta. In sections where rainfall is fairly plentiful, one irrigation may be sufficient, but if the soil is of a somewhat sandy nature, a second irrigation is likely to be required. For those who intend to grow them, the prime consideration at the present time is to insure a seed supply for next spring by placing their orders now.
